There's Not Likely to Be Any International Competition for Uncle Sam for a Long Time.

cht, 1814, by The Press Publishing Os. (The New York World). begins to look as if there wouldn't be much international competition for Uncle Samuel in a long, long time. We'll have to get ong with what fun we can have eveloping home talent.

The big yacht race is probably off.

at any rate the American boat ownare so sure of it that they are laying up the cup defenders, and if the Shamrock doesn't run foul of some German cruiser before she thes American waters she'll no sbt be hauled out to wait for bet-berlin in 1916, will surely be post-soned, at least. It will take Germany in 1916, will surely be postponed, at least. It will take Germany more than a year to get over the effects of the fuss she has started. Her athletes, so carefully trained for a year past, will all be on the righting lines, and many will be killed or disabled. And it will be years before the Germans will again be in a state of mind favorable to such a light and pleasant affair as an athletic carnival. Moreover, it will be years before the warring nations of the earth will seel disposed to send teams to Berlin er any other German city in friendly compatition.

er any other German city in friendly competition.

Many visiting teams of athletes from various countries were to have competed at the Panama Exposition in California next summer. Few of these will be there.

And as for the minor events, such as a return match between Carpentier and Smith, Williams and Ledoux, Smith and Wella, &c., they we all gone by the board. All the French and English fighting mea, with many of the colonial champions, will have been fighting to do instead of mere in the mean time American sporting events will go on as usual, excepting only a few of those which can't be run without a great outlay of money. The calling off of the New Tork Tacht Club cruise shortly after it had begun is an indication that even here in America men of affairs can hardly spare time for sport when things are so topsy-turyy in the world.

HE Amateur Athletic Union makes a great point of enforce ing a strictly amateur spirit

The Canadian games will be run in

There's an ancient theory that matter athletes compete for their pleasure, and that money, shether in the form of gate receipts prizes, doesn't enter into the matter at all. It is only of late years hat the A. A. U. has obtaint; such control of amateur athletes that it as exploit them or restrict their library. When any organisation can return to allow an amateur athlete to compete where he pleases, as long as a competes as an amateur and not for profit, it is about time that athletes organized in their own defense.

FHE A. A. U. was an association of athletes when it was organised years ago. It has become an association of business men for the control of athletic sports. Competing athletes haven't a word to say about amateur athletic affairs.

The submission of the athletes themselves to this state of affairs is due to the fact that the A. A. U. is as competently organized as any trust. It holds the whip hand, for its registration committee can arbitrarily "disqualify" or "suspend" any amateur athlete on the finnsiest of charges, not founded at all upon the original amateur definition, barring him from all smateur definition are professional, this applies even to the Olympic teams, which are supposed to represent the United States and not a privately controlled athletic organization.

SECOND RACE.

The second favorite of the day went over when Distant Shore galloped home two lengths in front of Mabel Montgomery. The latter coming from behind at the stretch turn went past the judges two lengths in front of Mallard. The later and Hiker were up with the leaders at the stretch turn, but Hiker dropped out of it at the stretch turn.

The race was remarkable for the reason that the field ran side by side for three-sixteenths of a mile before the line of heads was broken by Distant Shore coming out of the bunch to lead the rest of the way.
